School of Law — Bloomington

Submissions:

ILA is published every Monday. Information and articles for ILA should be submitted by Thursday at 1pm for inclusion in Monday's edition. Submissions can be given to Leslie Jackson in Room 240, put in Leslie Jackson's box in the faculty mailroom on the second floor or placed in the envelope by the bulletin board across from the elevator on the ground floor. In addition, submissions can be sent through campus E-mail to LESLIEJACKSON@law.indiana.edu

PROFESSOR BSHKOFF RETIRES AT END OF ACADEMIC YEAR

The poetics of contract, as well as the first-year students at this law school, will suffer a major loss as Professor Douglass Boshkoff takes retirement at the end of this semester. The good news is that Professor Boshkoff will continue to teach one course each year for upper-class students for the foreseeable future.

Professor Boshkoff began teaching at IU in 1962 after several years in private practice in Buffalo, New York, and a period as a teaching fellow at Harvard and a professor at Wayne State. Internationally recognized for his bankruptcy expertise (as well as one of the only known members of the "consideration school" of American poetry), Professor Boshkoff is a student favorite for, among other things, his willingness to climb any classroom fixture to drive home a point. We are all grateful that his retirement will not mark the end of his teaching career at the law school.

PRACTITIONER IN RESIDENCE THIS WEEK

Ms. Dorothy J. Frapwell, Indiana University Legal Counsel, will be our practitioner in residence this week. Ms. Frapwell graduated from our law school in 1973. After working as Chief Deputy Prosecutor in Monroe County for three years after graduation, she became an Associate University Counsel in 1975. From 1978 until 1990 her responsibilities were expanded to include being the University's Medical Center Attorney.

From 1990 to 1994 her responsibilities shifted again as she added to her legal duties those of being Special Counsel to the University President. In 1994 she was appointed University Legal Counsel, the chief legal position for the University. A few of her special professional activities have included: Board Member of the American Council on Graduate Medical Education, National Health Lawyers Association, American Society of Hospital Attorneys, Board of Directors of the IU Credit Union, and President of our Law School Alumni Association. Ms. Frapwell will attend Professor Dau-Schmidt's Employment Law class on Tuesday at 2:15, Professor Rollock's Corporations class at 11:00 a.m. on Wednesday, and Professor Lamber's class in Employment Discrimination at 10:00 a.m. on Friday. She will be available for general discussion and to talk about her legal work and career development on Wednesday at 12:15 in room 124. At that time students may also ask her for private appointments to talk to her about concerns or interests. Her legal experience is broad and diverse and will be of interest to students whose interests ranges from Health Law to Corporate Law to Criminal Law to Employment Law.

Environmental Moot Court Team Results

Last week the Environmental Moot Court Team (Marc Reese, Peter Dykstra, Danial Deeb, and Professor Steve Johnson) traveled to New York to compete at the Pace University National Environmental Moot Court Competition, the premiere such competition in the country.

We are pleased to report that we emerged from a tough field of approximately 80 schools to the quarter-finals where we were narrowly defeated by the eventual champion!

We would like to thank everyone who helped during the past several months, particularly Professors Crosson, Fischman, Gjerdingen, Rollock, Conkle, and Bingham (SPEA), Deans Robel and Barnes (SPEA), and students Kep Charmichael, Tom Ice, and Kara Coats for generously donating their time as judges for our many oral practice sessions. We greatly appreciate all the time and advice you were able to give us.

WLC Auction Raises More Than $5,500

The Women's Law Caucus extends a big thank you to everyone who helped make this year's raffle and auction a success. The event raised more than $5,500 for Middle Way House and the Protective Order Project, which both benefit area women. An extra special thank you goes out to the auctioneers (Professors Baude, Bethel, Orenstein, and Dean Fromm); Jim Dell; and our hard working organizers (Liisi Baumgartner, Kathleen Lysaught, and Irene Kowalczyk).

NEWS FROM THE FACULTY

Fred Cate appeared last week in a front-page story in USA Today, and on WMAQ and WXRT in Chicago, WSPD in Toledo, and on the syndicated radio program, Prime Time America, about "corporate vigilanteism" on the Internet. On March 1 he gave a paper on the First Amendment rights of telephone companies at the DePaul Law Review's Symposium on Telecommunications Regulation in an Era of Convergence.

On March 7, Sarah Hughes will participate, by invitation, in a special session of the National Commissioners on Uniform State Laws as the commissioners consider the effect on consumers of proposed changes to Article 9.

An excerpt from Professor Orenstein's article, The Federal Rules of Evidence After Sixteen years, co-authored with the Honorable Edward R. Becker, appears in Edward J. Imwinkelried & Glen Weissenberger, An Evidence Anthology published by Anderson press.

Alex Tanford's book, The Trial Process: Law, Tactics and Ethics has just been published in its third edition -- this time in electronic format for students with laptop computers. It is one of the first law school textbooks in the country to be commercially published in electronic form.

NEWS FROM STUDENT AFFAIRS OFFICE

SPRING 1997 LONDON PROGRAM

A special informational meeting will be held on Tuesday, March 5, at noon in room 120 to share information about the London Program next year. We will not know the actual courses that will be offered until August of this year, prior to the start of fall classes. Incidentally, the fall semester classes will commence on Wednesday, August 28. Present at the meeting will also be students who attended the program last year to answer questions and share their observations.

NEWS FROM CAREER SERVICES

Criminal Prosecution; Cook Co. State Attorney's Office
Friday, March 8th, 1:00 p.m.; Room 125. Considering litigation and looking for a great place to start? Come meet Angelo Loumbas, an IU alumnus currently working for the Cook Co. State's Attorney Office. Angelo will discuss what it is like to work for a large litigation organization, career paths within and outside such an organization, and how to position yourself to enter the area of litigation.

Career Options II: Arbitration, Politics & Foundation Leadership.
Date Change: March 21st at 12:15 p.m.; Room 121.

Ever wonder what are some of the exciting things you can do with a law degree beyond practicing at a law firm? Then we encourage you to come listen to three IU alumni talk about their career paths in and around the law. Meet Cynthia Stanley, an Arbitrator, Beth Tevlin, Executive Director of the Wabash Valley Community Foundation, and an alumnus involved in politics (TBA).

Indiana Job Fair (All Class years)
Tuesday, April 9 (Indy). New Student Registration Deadline: March 19th.

Materials for the Indiana Job Fair will be available during spring break (March 13th). ISBA's annual Job Fair creates an opportunity for Indiana legal employers to recruit students from the four Indiana law schools at one venue, in one day. Students register for the program through their own CSO (see above deadline). Employers select 60% of their interview schedule; 40% is filled through random computer selection based on student preferences. Students will be notified of their interviews the week of April 1st. To register, stop by the CSO and review the Indiana Job Fair Notebook. Complete a registration form and submit the requisite number of resumés by March 19th. (Sorry for the delay; the Bar Association was gathering additional employers.)

The pictures from the Graduate Mixer are available from the photographer. Order forms and proofs are in the SLA office.

Business & Law Society

This is the last week to get your t-shirts (long and short sleeve) and sweatshirts sporting the new IU Law logo. The Business and Law Society is offering them all week in several colors at low prices in the lobby at lunchtime. Also offered are 100 personalized business cards with the IU Law seal on them for the low, low price of $10. They are great for job hunting and general networking. Buy now, and your goods will be ready after Spring Break.

Phi Delta Phi

Please come to the meeting on Tuesday, March 5 at noon in room 121. We will be discussing initiation and speakers for Ethics Week. We welcome all interested students to attend. Look forward to seeing you there!

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Children's Law Day

Children's Law Day is scheduled for Saturday, March 23, starting at 10:00 a.m. Children will participate in mock classes, tour the law school and have lunch in the cafeteria. Currently, we will offer separate activities for four groups of children: 3-5, 6-8, 9-11, and 12 and up. We will need teachers, greeters, story-tellers, witnesses (for questioning concerning a tort case) and lunchroom supervisors. We are currently planning the activities and welcome ideas from students and faculty. If you have volunteered, we will be contacting you soon. We are still accepting names of children and volunteers. Please contact Martha Marion's (1L)

SAVE THE DATE

Wednesday March 21 at noon Donna Mackman (3L) will lead a discussion on Grandparents rights for the Children and the Law Discussion Group.

ADMISSIONS OFFICE REMINDER:

If you have been given names of admitted applications to contact, please try to call or write them before spring break. If you will not be able to contact the student(s) please return their address/phone information to the Admissions Office.
